Four Russian performers — choreographers Alexander Andriyashkin (TSEKH Dance) and Tatyana Luzai (Derevo Physical Theater), and theatre directors Kseniya Petrenko and Aleksei Zherebtsov (both of LIQUID Theater), are collaborating for one night only. Instead of the normative "years in the making" program, the artists are meeting up just the day before the performance, when they'll see the Storefront for Art and Architecture for the first time. The only known elements involved are ten buckets of dirt, a chair, a sheaf of hay, a scythe, and a sickle.
